ENDURA CHAMOIS CREAM

► When the first line of the instructions mentions 'groin' you know this is a product from a no-nonsense British company. Designed to offer an anti-bacterial barrier as well as preventing the friction that causes chafing, Endura's cream makes for a reliable ride companion. Applying it to the skin in the same quantity as our usual brand, we found it offered fair coverage and was still in evidence post ride, although we would apply more generously if used on a regular basis. Containing minimal perfume, Endura also state that it can be used post-ride to aid healing. Available in one 125ml size, this chamois cream does a stand-up job.

VERDICT

No-nonsense stuff that does an excellent anti-friction job, although it needs regular topping up.
