

The Pro Jersey II (£47.99/$89.99), like its Equipe equivalent, has a longer cut on both arms and body than is typical so it suited my long torso. The fit really is tremendous and, like the entire range, gives a good impersonation of a jersey at twice the price. Thanks to our deathly cold spring, up to the time of writing there hasn't been a chance to wear the jersey on its own but it certainly wicks sweat away well indoors and as a base layer.