

Endura Pakajak

£34.99

The Endura Pakajak wins, if nothing else, the prize for the best-named product on test. The ripstop nylon is completely windproof, with extra protection also provided by the elasticated cuffs, hem, and back of collar. Packability is also good, with the jacket coming with a stuff sack that fits in a jersey pocket with room to spare. However, despite the sizeable mesh panels under the arms, breathability could be better, and this is definitely one I'll save for early spring or late autumn rides.

Great protection and packability, but a little too warm when the temperature climbs
