

1 ENDURA FS260-PRO JETSTREAM III,
£72.99,

Striking a mid ground between a flyweight summer jacket and a heavily insulated winter jacket, the FS260-Pro is ideal for the cooler days of autumn and spring. The slightly plasticky-feeling front panels and arms are windproof, while fleecy sides, underarms and back help with breathability while delivering snug warmth. For long, steady rides it's wonderful, but like most of these jackets it gets a bit clammy during high intensity interval sessions. The fit is close so it doesn't flap in the breeze, the gripper tape around the hem works well, and there are three deep pockets as well as a small zipped pocket. Our tests sample came in white, which looked great until the first rear-wheel puncture fix.

Verdict: Lovely attention to detail on a highly effective jacket for autumn rides. Top value too.
