

Endura TransRib High Neck £40

This is a base layer engineered for warmth and extended comfort. The high neck and quarter zip make for a good combination on cold days that inevitable have you warming up on long hard pedals and the off-set side seams ensure that everything stays sleek and chafe free – welcome when layering up with extra insulation and then a jacket. The fabric is comfortable against the skin and boasts an anti-bacterial treatment that means it doesn't get as smelly as you'd expect from a synthetic. And we can confirm that it works – after a multi-day trip and no washing it wasn't quite as sweet as when started but we hadn't lost any friends either. A great spec for the price.
