

Endura SL Pro bib tights

£159.99

They're marketed at roadies, but these near-fully-windproof bib tights are incredible for mountain bike missions in miserable weather. The ThermoRoubaix fabric has a cosy fleece lining to keep you warm and windproof panels across the front to block out chilly draughts. Endura boast of a water-repellent DWR coating too, but we found this faded quite quickly (after only a couple of washing cycles). The cut is good, with no tight or baggy spots, and the elasticated ankles fit snugly without zips. Available in three widths, the chamois pad is contoured and well-padded, making it possible to get a perfect fit. These certainly aren't cheap, but damn they're comfy. Ed
