

Endura MT500 Spray

£100

With a soft-shell construction and extra waterproofing at the back, the MT500 is a top-notch winter trouser, offering decent levels of warmth and weather protection.

Despite a slightly nappy-like cut when stood, the MT500 Spray fits well on the bike, with the extra room round the bum resisting too much pulling down of the hem – improved when attached to bibs via the Clickfast fasteners and aided by velcro waist adjusters and silicon gripper. Lower down, the zips at the ankle ease getting them on and off, and keep the material from catching your chain.

They're not fully waterproof, but the material sheds puddle spray, meaning it takes a long ride to get waterlogged.

www.endurasport.com

MT500s keep you warm and dry in all but the wettest rides.