

ENDURA HELIUM

£89.99

SPECIFICATION COLOURS Four choices
SIZES XS-XXL

The Helium has been part of Endura's range for at least half a decade and if it's changed in that time we haven't noticed. That's not a criticism – it worked brilliantly at the start of the decade and still works well today. It's full of features you'll find on pricier jackets – taped seams, stretch panels, an asymmetric zip and, of course, excellent waterproofing. It's a bit of a cross-over jacket, well-regarded in mountain bike circles too. Breathability isn't up there with Gore or Castelli's offerings but it's perfectly acceptable – and way cheaper. And we like the drawcord in the neck and the small rear pocket.
