

Endura FS260-Pro Adrenaline Race Gilet £49.99

With a successful partnership with the Movistar Pro Tour team, Endura has been creating some well-designed technical clothing. The Adrenaline Race continues that quality with some excellent features for what is an extremely light gilet.

The Adrenaline comes supplied with a tiny stuff sack and it easily fits in a jersey pocket. It is made from a fully waterproof and breathable material and all seams are taped.

Unlike other feather-light gilets the material has some degree of stretch and a softer feel, leading to a better, contour-hugging fit and reduced wind noise. It has a very comfortable padded collar with a neat elasticated section to allow it to efficiently cover your neck. There is a storm flap but be careful not to catch it in the zip. An additional feature is the reflective piping at the shoulders and waist.

All told, the Adrenaline Race is an excellent option, though some form of pocket or easy access to jersey pockets would make it near perfect.
