

Endura FS260
Pro SL Thermo
Windproof jacket
£129.99

From Endura's Pro SL line, this jacket is described as "winter training insulation". At temperatures around 5-8°C, I was comfortable wearing just a long-sleeved thermal base layer and this jacket — windproofing is very good, especially on the front of the garment, where there is also a polyurethane waterproof membrane on selected panels.

The fabric has a good amount of stretch and a highly effective water-repellant finish. Other details include a comfy high-cut collar, extended cuffs for glove integration and reflective details. The fit is decent, but you may want to size down, as a medium came up slightly large on me at 6ft 1in and 70kg. Overall, this is an excellent jacket that is very hard to fault. Oliver Bridgewood 516g
